DECISION

Dispute Codes MNR, OPR

Introduction

This hearing was convened, following an adjournment from the original Hearing date of November 15, 2011, in response to an application by the Landlord pursuant to the Residential Tenancy Act (the “Act”) for Orders as follows:

1. An Order of Possession - Section 55; and
2. A Monetary Order for unpaid rent - Section 67.

The Tenant and Landlord were each provided with notice of today’s hearing date by the Residential Tenancy Branch. The Tenant did participate in today’s conference call hearing. The Landlord was given full opportunity to be heard, to present evidence and to make submissions.

Issue(s) to be Decided

Is the notice to end tenancy valid?

Is the Landlord entitled to an Order of Possession?

Is the Landlord entitled to the monetary amounts claimed?

Background and Evidence

The tenancy began on June 1, 2011. Rent in the amount of $900.00 is payable in advance on the first day of each month. At the outset of the tenancy, the Landlord collected a security deposit from the Tenant in the amount of $450.00. The Tenant failed to pay rent for the month of October 2011 and on October 4, 2011 the Landlord served the Tenant with a notice to end tenancy for non-payment of rent (the “Notice”) by posting the Notice on the door. The Tenant has not paid the rent for October,

November and December 2011, has not filed an Application for Dispute Resolution and has not moved out of the unit. The Landlord claims $2,700.00 for unpaid rent

Analysis

Section 46 of the Act requires that upon receipt of a Notice to End Tenancy for non-payment of rent the tenant must, within five days, either pay the full amount of the arrears indicated on the Notice or dispute the notice by filing an Application for Dispute Resolution with the Residential Tenancy Branch. If the tenant does neither of these two things, the tenant is conclusively presumed to have accepted that the tenancy ended on the effective date of the Notice.

Based on the Landlord's evidence I find that the Tenant was served with a notice to end tenancy for non-payment of rent and I find the notice to be valid. The Tenant has not filed an application to dispute the notice and has not paid the outstanding rent. Given these facts, I find that the Landlord is entitled to an Order of Possession. I also find that the Landlord has established a monetary claim for $2,700.00 in unpaid rent. Setting the security deposit plus interest in the amount of $450.00 off the entitlement leaves the amount of $2,250.00 payable by the Tenant to the Landlord.

Conclusion

I grant an Order of Possession to the Landlord. The Tenant must be served with this Order of Possession. Should the Tenant fail to comply with the order, the order may be filed in the Supreme Court of British Columbia and enforced as an order of that Court.

I order that the Landlord retain the deposit and interest of $450.00 in partial satisfaction of the claim and I grant the Landlord an order under Section 67 of the Act for the balance due of $2,250.00. If necessary, this order may be filed in the Small Claims Court and enforced as an order of that Court.

This decision is made on authority delegated to me by the Director of the Residential Tenancy Branch under Section 9.1(1) of the Residential Tenancy Act.
