Introduction

This hearing dealt with an application by the tenant for an order to set aside a notice to end tenancy for cause. Both parties attended the hearing and had opportunity to be heard.

Issue to be Decided

Does the landlord have grounds to end this tenancy?

Background and Evidence

The landlord purchased the rental unit in February 2014 and the tenant was already in occupation of the rental unit. The monthly rent is $375.00. Both parties agreed that the tenant had paid a security deposit of $187.50 prior to moving in.

On February 27, 2015, the landlord served the tenant with a notice to end tenancy for cause. The reasons for the notice were discussed at length. During the hearing the parties engaged in a conversation, turned their minds to compromise and achieved a resolution of their dispute.

Analysis

Pursuant to Section 63 of the Residential Tenancy Act, the Arbitrator may assist the parties settle their dispute and if the parties settle their dispute during the dispute resolution proceedings, the settlement may be recorded in the form of a decision or an order.

During this hearing, the parties reached an agreement to settle their dispute. Both parties agreed to the following terms:

1. The tenant agreed to move out on or before 1:00p.m. on April 30, 2015.
2. The landlord agreed to allow the tenancy to continue until April 30, 2015.
3. The landlord will be issued an order of possession effective April 30, 2015.
4. The landlord agreed to return the security deposit of $187.50, in full at the end of tenancy
5. Both parties stated that they understood and agreed that these particulars comprise the full and final settlement of all aspects of this dispute for both parties.

Conclusion

Pursuant to the above agreement, I grant the landlord an order of possession effective on or before 1:00pm on April 30, 2015. Should the tenant fail to comply with the order, the order may be filed in the Supreme Court of British Columbia and enforced as an order of that Court.

This decision is made on authority delegated to me by the Director of the Residential Tenancy Branch under Section 9.1(1) of the Residential Tenancy Act.
